7. Timing of the Preliminary Examination Relative to Final Exams

A student may take a master's final exam in the same semester as a preliminary exam.

In general, a doctoral final exam cannot be scheduled in the same semester as the preliminary exam. Four months must elapse between the successful completion of the preliminary exam and scheduling of the doctoral final exam.